What your pig says about you

Where the pig sits

- Near the top: optimist. You look on the bright side and expect things to work out. People come to you for a lift.
- In the middle: realist. You weigh the good and the bad and keep your feet on the ground. Few things knock you off balance.
- Near the bottom: careful planner. You plan for what could go wrong and can be hard on yourself. Others call it pessimism; you call it being ready.

How much detail

- Lots of detail: analytical. You notice the small things, think before you act and take your time to trust people.
- Some detail: balanced. You care about the details that matter and let the rest go. A practical mix of head and heart.
- Just the outline: big-picture and emotional. You go with your gut, take chances and do not sweat the small stuff.

Ear size

- Big ears: good listener. People open up to you, and you remember what they told you.
- Small or no ears: speaks their mind. You would rather talk than listen, or you keep your own counsel until you have made up your mind.

Which way it faces

- To the left: traditional and warm. Friends and family come first. You remember birthdays, keep in touch and like the old ways that work.
- Straight at me: direct. You say what you think, enjoy a good debate and do not run from awkward conversations.
- To the right: innovator. You chase new ideas and move fast. Dates and routines may slip, because your head is already in the next thing.

How many legs

- Four legs: secure. You know what you believe and stick to it. Steady, dependable, and sometimes stubborn.
- Fewer than four: in a season of change. Something in your life is shifting, or you are still working out where you stand. That is allowed.

Tail length

- Long or curly: happy in love. The old key says a long tail means a happy love life, or at least a hopeful one.
- Short or none: love could use attention. The old key says your love life could use a little more time and care right now.
